Dear Darla

You heard that spring started last week, right? Not only did it happen on the calendar, but in real life, too. We're usually dreading another snow storm this time of year. But instead, well...

This little picture shows a personal triumph for me. This is the FIRST year I've ever had my own daffodils pop up. Lambchop helped me plant them last fall, and then God made the magic happen. I am estatic.

See, it's good to have goals. If you need a little more of that, please sign up for the next Clear Path Strategies support group focusing on general clutter control starting on May 29 (look to the left for the link). Participants tell me they change their lives every time I run these.

Meaningful Tip

It only takes a moment to check your drivers license and confirm you are an organ donor. There were over 113 ,611 transplant candidates as of today, but only 28,535 transplants completed all of last year. www.UNOS.org.

Before I forget, please come to the Margaret Heggan library on Wednesday night, where I'll be presenting a very popular program. Last time it was offered in PA, there were over 75 people in the room. Can New Jersey deliver? The library is right next to Wacker's Trading Post, which everyone knows, so head on over and say hi!

Sincerely,

Darla DeMorrow, CPO® , owner

Conference: NAPO 2012

...What I Have to Share with You

Did you know there is a National Association of Professional Organizers (NAPO)? I just got back from the annual conference, and I have tons to share with you. Here's my top 5:

5. Goodies. I've picked up tons of fun stuff to give away over at my facebook page, so be sure to LIKE it by clicking the link.

4. Meaning- We heard from UNOS (United Network for Organ Sharing) and a mom whose son is alive today because of a timely organ transplant. They are the ultimate ORGAN-IZING business!

3. Learning- I surprised myself and attended a session called "Clutter Clearing the "Fun" Shui Way. More on that later.

2. Photos- Why do we take pictures? To tell stories. I added photo organizing to my biz this week so I could help you tell your stories easier and better. Wanna be first in line? Email me.

1. Friends- Organizing isn't about the stuff. It's about important relationships in your life. I had a great time with some really wonderful people, including a fabulous colleague, Wendy Nelson, from Chicagoland. Don't we look like we're having fun at Fell's Point?
