Getting It Together: January 2013

Dear Darla, ,

Better. Stronger. More beautiful. More fun. No, those aren't my new year's resolutions. That's what I hope you'll think of our newsletter redesign. We'd love to know what you think of it. From us here at HeartWork Organizing, here's to your best, most organized, most beautiful year yet!

Fondly,

Darla DeMorrow

What Does Getting Organized Really Get You?

There's a lot of chatter this month about resolutions, but it's important to celebrate the changes already completed! I could share amazing stories of change each and every month. My clients organized their job search efforts and landed that high paying job in this economy. My clients cleared their desks, filed long overdue tax returns, and got the IRS off their back. My clients improved their business operations. My clients allowed us to redesign a room and enjoyed their entire home more. My clients trusted us to stage their home and moved their family to the next level. My clients finally safeguarded their computer data and family pictures. My clients

I thank each and every one of you for allowing me to help you with your project and your style. Like the name says, it is my heart's work.

If you're ready to make big changes this year, please call me. I'd love to sing your praises, too.

Home Show Happy

I'm so honored to be chosen to present Fabulous One Day Room Transformations at the Philadelphia Home Show on February 9. The middle of winter is a great time to see what's new in home trends. It's great to get inspiration and motivation to tackle your own fun and fabulous projects. Many of my colleagues will be speaking throughout the show. I'm thrilled to be able to offer tickets. Just click here to enter the drawing for my first set of tickets to the Philly Home Show (There may be more, so stay tuned!) And be sure to stay connected on facebook, twitter and pinterest for additional chances to win.

Ready to make changes? Let's make something amazing happen for you this year. I'm just a click or call away from solving your clutter or decorating dilemmas.

Sincerely,

Darla DeMorrow
