Going Back, Giving Back

Are your kids back to school yet? We are blessed with one more week of summer vacation. Or cursed with one more week of summer chaos. It just depends on who you ask in my house.

One thing I never do is back to school clothes shopping for my girls. It's warm enough that they are still wearing summer outfits. I wait and shop the Just Between Friends children's consignment sales in Oaks, PA on 9/21-23 to save $$$ on their fall and winter clothes, shoes, and sports gear. Go here to get the dates for this and other local sales and sales nationwide.

This time of the year isn't just for going back. For the month of September, we're giving back a portion of our profits to the Habitat for Humanity, Montgomery and Delaware County chapter. I made a commitment to them earlier this year to raise $15K, stepping out in faith that we could help them provide Doors and Floors for one of their home builds. So book your appointment now for September with HeartWork Organizing, and we'll donate a portion right to Habitat. Of course, if you care to help us along with our goal, you are welcome to make an additional gift to Habitat for Humanity by clicking here, noting that you are contributing on behalf of HeartWork Organizing. Just make the note on the last line of the form.

On September 16, our whole team is going to Rock the Block with Habitat. I've been trying to figure out how to explain this awesome event, and then I found this video. Need a lift today? Watch this Habitat video, and then sign up to volunteer to come out and work side by side with us on 9/16.

This is a lot to throw at you, but we have one more fun event coming up in September. On September 23, you are invited to a Save Your Photos event at my office in Wayne. We'll be doing mini-workshops on how to save your digital photos, slides and films, answering your questions about your phones, laptops and tablets, and even offering free scanning for up to 50 photos. All you need to do is register here for this free Save Your Photos event. What's that, you say? Need mimosas? Can do! Every day we hear stories of families losing their photos to theft, loss, fire and floods. Don't let it happen to you.

If you want to get even closer to an actual house build, my lovely team is going to be hosting an on-site Habitat build workday on October 27 in the Norristown area. We want you to join us! Please click here to let me know. Let's go play with power tools!
