Dear Darla

Did you get snow recently? We did, and that's a sure sign that we're winding down to the end of the year.

There's lots happening here, as I'm sure there is at your place, so I wanted to be sure to catch you early in the month.

First, congratulations to all who attended the first Virtual

Stuff, Lower Providence Library, 7pm

Get ready for January! There's a full slate of programs, including a new one on memorabilia and photo organizing. Hope to see you there.

See my website for updated times and places. Want a presentation closer to you? Please email or call about how we can make that happen.

The Pregnant

Clutter Support Group. We had some amazing successes. Even those who didn't complete their project came away with some new skills and friends. The class is over, and I'm still seeing pictures of projects finishing up. Good job, group! I was honored to be able to work with you. I'll be publishing the class schedule for next year very soon.

There is also an amazing photo organizing giveaway going on right now (until 12/7) over on my blog, so I hope you'll check it out. See below.

Very exciting, my book, The Pregnant Entrepreneur, is in the running for the Top 25 on the Circle of Moms website. I would be every so grateful if my faithful readers would vote once or more. If everyone voted just once, that would seal the honor for me and the book. It takes just two clicks. THANK YOU!

Are you looking for gifts to wrap up your list? I've got just the thing. Check out my 50+ Gifts that Aren't Clutter. No, it's not just stuff like theater tickets. Most of them are real gifts that look great under your tree.

If you'd rather have organizing help for yourself or as a gift, please read how to give organizing and decorating gift certificates. Feel free to forward that article to someone who keeps asking what is on your list.

Merry Christmas and happy holidays. See you in the New Year.

Sincerely,

Picture Your Photos Organized

...3-part series and 3-piece giveaway

Digital photography has made photographers of all of us. But it has led to a new problem...photo overwhelm. Remember when those rolls of 24 frames meant you were very careful with when, where, and how you took pictures? You would wait until you had the best shot of the group or scene before hitting the button. But now we take 3, 5, or even 20 near-identical shots of the same scene. What to do with them all? That's why I created a 3-part series with 3 simple tricks to Entrepreneur is in the running for an award from Circle of Moms. Please click here before Dec 7 for easy one-click voting.

You can vote once a day. If you click here to agree, I'll send you an email reminder each day until voting closes on December 7.

This contest ends December 7, so that we'll have enough time to deliver your package before Christmas if you give it away as a gift. Just be sure to enter now, before you forget.

Linea also has a special offer going until December 7, with FREE soft-cover photo books and hard-cover books for just $10. Visit www.GetLinea.com or the Apple App store now to take advantage of this generous offer. Not sure how to get started? Give me a call. I have the tricks to have you formatting like a pro, or I'll do it for you.
