Dear Darla

Don't look too closely at the date. Let's just say this is my little attempt to slow down summer, which I LOVE.

Last month just went too fast for me. I spent two whole weeks on vacation. Since we've been back, it's been a whirlwind of camp, baseball, storms, and...you!

That's right, even for my favorite holiday, the 4th of July, I don't really take any time off. I've been busy helping people organize their thoughts and job searches, make their kitchens more beautiful, and make major changes to their business. HOW EXCITING. One of the things I'm grateful for is the freedom to run a business that lets me help and work with so many wonderful people. (That would be you, again.)

I'm grateful to be adding new goodies for you. Last month, Cindy D. won the Grid-It organizer. Rachee F. won the super-cute Purse Perfector. They heard about these giveaways through my blog posts sent directly to their email. I'm grateful for everyone who takes the time to enter a contest or comment on a post. Please keep 'em coming.

Have attic clutter?

Check out the AtticMaxx solution. Pretty cool, even if your attic is smokin' hot this week.

Impulse Shopper?

Turn that bad habit into a good thing. Check out the ImpulseSave app and site. It helps you sock away money in the amount you were just about to spend on that shiny new object that would have become clutter. Your brain gets a high from this kind of impulsive act too, so you feel just as good, but richer!

Did You Know?

Better Homes and Gardens and I want you to be safe this summer. In their July issue, they recommend a 3 foot space around your grill for fire safety. I recommend the same clearance around indoor heat sources, like your furnace and other major home appliances. Clearing the clutter just 3 feet at a time could be just the thing to keep you safe.

Are you grateful for summer? I've started to send out a daily #Grateful tweet. Wanna see what I'm grateful for? Follow me @DarlaDeMorrow. I'll be following you back.

I'm also grateful that the next Clear Path Strategies time organizing class starts October 2, and you can sign up for it now. It's going to be here quick.

I hope you enjoy summer, one bite at a time.

Sincerely,

Darla DeMorrow, CPO®, owner

Kitchen Update

...One Bite at a Time

You've heard the saying, "How do you eat an elephant?"

One bite at a time.

This kitchen had offered up excellent service for 25 years. But this homeowner decided to tackle her upgrades one bite at a time. Over several months, working in phases, she lightened, brightened, updated, and added some serious style to her space. But by doing it in phases, she was able to control the costs and make the design choices one at a time without becoming overwhelmed. This approach isn't right for everyone, but she's happy with the outcome, and so am I.

I promise I'll do a post soon about the changes, and the big change on the other side of the room, not visible here in this photo! So subscribe here so you can get the scoop.
