Save Your Photos!

Today is Save Your Photos Day, an international event to help people preserve and safeguard memories in all forms. We held our event earlier this week, a digital photo organizing class that I run from time to time. But there are events going on all over the country and the world. Check here to find one near you, or join the virtual event going on later today.

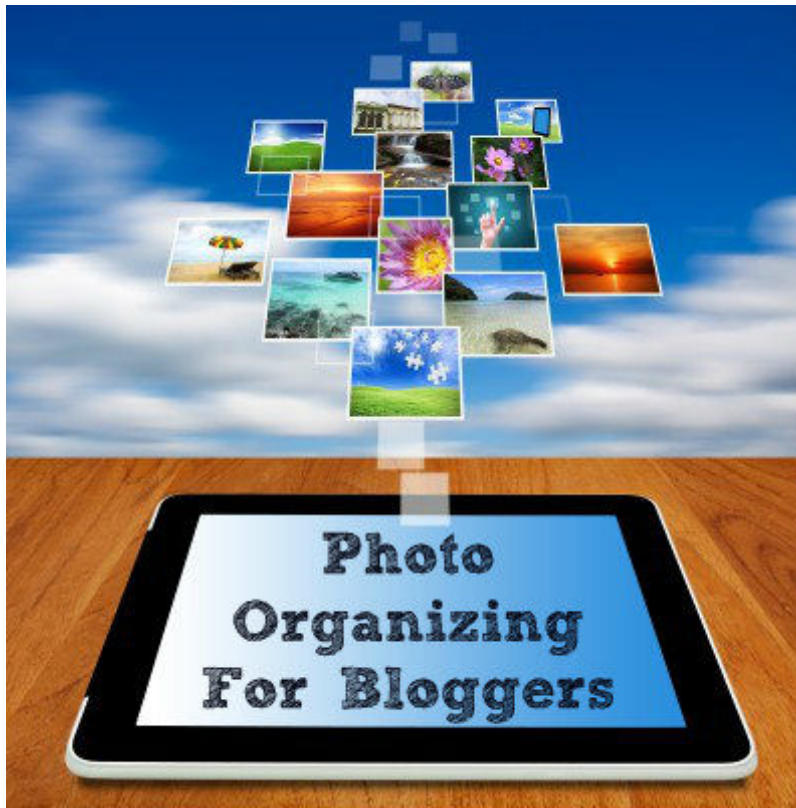

If you can't join an event, I've also got tons of articles on the blog to help you organize your photos.

Share Your Photos Day is planned for the third Saturday in November, which also happens to be National Preparedness Month. Do you have an emergency Go Bag for you and your family in case you have to relocate quickly? What about having all of your vital documents organized in one place? If you have an hour, spend some time this week getting ready. It's hard to think about when the weather is still so lovely this fall, but studies show that having a plan improves physical outcomes and mental health in times of crisis.

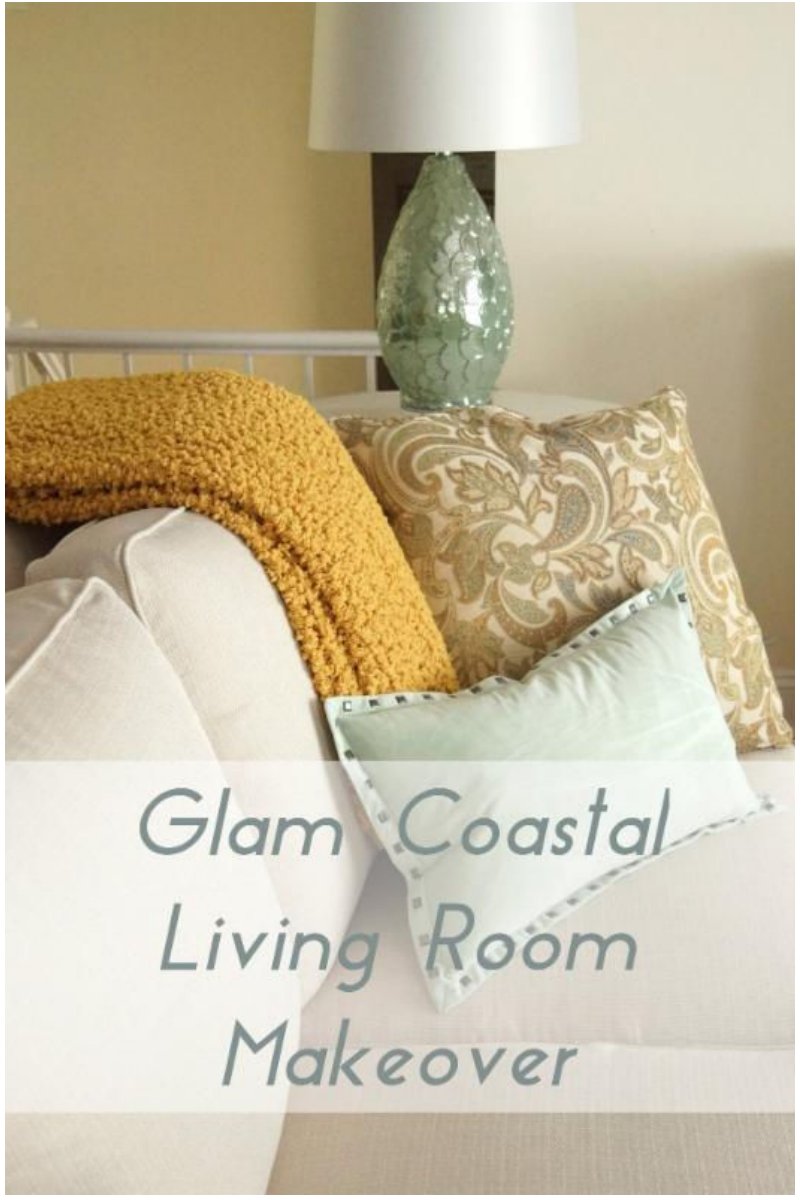

Be sure to enter this amazing giveaway going on now for the coolest new photo management solution from Lyve (a $300 value). Don't be the last to know. We'd love to have you subscribe to blog.
