Now that you're back from summer, join us for a very special free #SaveYourPhotos event. We are taking the pledge to do something, or maybe a few somethings, to save photos, tapes, films, and memorabilia that prove that, in fact, you have been somewhere, usually with some pretty amazing people.

Time, disasters and technology all put those precious memories at risk. But we can help you get those memories organized and sharable, so that your journey can be celebrated, even if your journey was only to the neighborhood pool. Come to a ladies' night event at my home on Friday, 9/30 (7-9 pm) in Wayne to get 50 photos professionally scanned for free. Email now to RSVP, and go find those physical photos you'd like to share in digital form. That's a whole year of #TBT to share!

Also, we'll help you get your phone backed up, right then and there, so you never have to worry about losing photos again. All free. All fun.

If you aren't in my neck of the woods, visit SaveYourPhotos.org to find a #SaveYourPhotos event near you.

Or you can just Click Here to Listen and learn 6 things you can do to save, protect, share, and enjoy your photos.

Don't wait. If your photos were lost, you give any amount of time and money to have them back. We can help you #SaveYourPhotos now.
